Soviets winning arms race, Zumwalt warns

By ED PRATHER
P-B Staff Writer

Retired Admiral Elmo Zumwalt Friday described the United States military power as rapidly deteriorating in comparison to the Soviet Union's and warned that the American public is not being told the truth about "detente" with the communist superpowers.

Speaking at Claremont Men's College, Zumwalt stated that the Soviet Union is militarily superior to the United States in both nuclear and conventional warfare capabilities, and is increasing its superiority each year.

Zumwalt, who was the Chief of Naval Operations for four years until his retirement in June, said bath Russia and China were using "detente" to their best advantages and would ultimately become more aggressive.

Tracing the history of American-Soviet military capabilities since the end of World War II, Zumwalt described the Cuban Missile Crisis of the Kennedy Administration as a turning point for both countries.

Since the Soviet Union was forced to back down in that "eyeball-to-eyeball" encounter, he said, the Russians have dedicated themselves to achieving military superiority. In the decade since 1965, while the United States was spending billions of dollars on the battle fields of South Vietnam, the Soviets built the nuclear and convention arsenal that is today the most powerful in the world, said Zumwalt.

"Detente" is increasing the Russians' military advantage, he continued, as the United States shares it technical knowledge and voluntarily limits its own capabilities.

While "detente" has made Communist China a silent ally of the United States, it is only because the Chinese are "scared to death" of the Soviet military strength.

Once China achieves adequate military power of its own, the Chinese will demand the return of Taiwan and the removal of U.S. military bases throughout the Orient. Zumwalt predicted that these events could occur within 15 years.

Zumwalt said that the United States must increase defense spending to counter the communist threat, but admitted he is pessimistic about that happening until after the next presidential election.

TEACHERS FREED

Richard Fink, right, one of jailed Garden City, Mich. teachers, holds up manacled hand as he is led from Wayne County Jail Friday. The Michigan Court of Appeals ordered 11 jailed teachers freed on $1,000 bond while hearing continued on a contempt of court case stemming from a teachers' strike in the Detroit suburb. The 525 teachers went on strike Sept. 3 but returned Sept. 27 under court orders. They walked out again Nov. 11 after contract talks failed and were jailed Thursday.

Alabama official on UMW council killed in motel

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An Alabama representative on the United Mine Workers' bargaining council was shot to death Friday evening after he walked into a motel room where a robbery was in progress, police said.

The incident occurred only minutes after the victim, identified as UMW District 20 president Samuel Littlefield, and two other union officials had left a meeting on the tentative coal strike settlement.

Police said a man armed with a handgun had entered the motel room where Henry Brownfield, 57, and Frank Stevenson, 52, both union officials from Price, Utah, were awaiting Littlefield Friday evening and ordered both men to lie down on the floor.

The door was open, and Littlefield walked in, saw what was happening and ran down the fourth floor hallway, police said. The gunman pursued him and shot him in the head.

The holdup suspect, described as about 30 years old, with a mustache, "bush" hairstyle and wearing a gray jacket and trousers, fled and was still being sought.

Littlefield, suffering head wounds, was taken to George Washington University Hospital about 3:30 p.m. PST and died about 90 minutes later.

A UMW spokesman said union officials did not think the shooting was in any way related to the coal strike or contract negotiations here.

Police would not initially speculate on how the shooting occurred and said it was under investigation.

A union spokesman said Littlefield's motel, a Holiday Inn on Rhode Island Avenue, was within walking distance of UMW headquarters and Littlefield had left a council meeting 10 minutes before the shooting occurred. The spokesman said he understood the shooting occurred in Littlefield's room.

UMW President Arnold Miller said in a statement that he was "shocked and saddened by this terrible tragedy" and paid tribute to Littlefield as a respected leader who made "invaluable" contributions to his fellow miners.

Six die as snowstorm rips through East coast

By United Press International

Highways became a no-man's land of abandoned cars, buses, trucks and snowplows, people turned to snowmobiles for transportation and skiers took to the slopes Friday as a powerful fall snowstorm swirled over the East.

The blustery storm dumped more than two feet of snow on the Buffalo, N.Y. area, stranding hundreds of motorists, closing schools and shutting down some industries and businesses. The strom was blamed for at least six deaths.

Seven inches of snow graced the North Carolina mountains and some skiers took advantage of the early season.

Snowmobiles zipped up and down deserted streets in the Buffalo area Friday night, passing abandoned vehicles. A few cars managed to move.

Mark Kowzan, 18, Grand Island, N.Y., was stranded in an ambulance on the island north of Buffalo for three hours after being injured in a snowmobiling accident.

Three Buffalo residents and one Tonawanda, N.Y., resident died of heart attacks while shoveling snow. Another Buffalo man died of a heart attack while plodding through the deep snow and a sixth person suffered a fatal heart attack while driving through the mounting snow in the Erie County community of Brant.

Most major streets in the northern Buffalo suburbs became passable by Friday night, though in many cases only one lane was open.

A 134-mile stretch of the New York State Thruway between Rochester and the Pennsylvania border was closed for five hours and many major expressways in the Buffalo area were closed or impassable because of blowing and drifting snow.

Scores of schools —including Canisius College, State University at Buffalo and State University College —canceled classes Friday. A number of businesses and offices told their employes to stay home and those that did open sent employes home early. Many factories called off late shifts.

Price of sugar 'certain to increase'

NEW YORK (UPI) — The nation's biggest sugar company Friday raised the wholesale price of grocery sugar 7 per cent to 65.9 cents a pound in the third price hike in as many weeks and more increases were in the offing.

The action by Amstar Corp., which markets sugar under the Domino label, was certain to touch off more price hikes on sugar purchased by consumers.

Amstar also raised by more than 10 per cent the price of industrial sugar, signaling higher prices for such products as soft drinks, candy and sugar-coated cereals.

Amstar raised the price of 12 five-pound bundles of grocery sugar to $39.54, or 65.9 cents a pound, from $36.90, or 61.5 cents a pound.

A spokesman for Amstar said the higher wholesale and industrial prices were prompted by higher prices for raw sugar on world markets. "The raw sugar price has been going up almost every day since September," he said. "We are catching up. We're doing what we have to do here."

The spot price of raw sugar on the New York market Friday rose 2 cents, the maximum allowable increase for one day, to 58 cents a pound, indicating still higher wholesale and retail prices in the next few weeks.

Based on the current raw price and the addition of costs for refining, packaging and wholesaling, the consumer price could soar to 80 cents a pound or more in the near future.

Since Jan. 1, when a pound of sugar sold for 18 cents, the supermarket price has skyrocketed more than 300 per cent to 60 to 65 cents a pound.

Rockefeller's brother tells of losses on book

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Laurance Rockefeller said Friday he financed a critical biography of his brother's 1970 political opponent as a business venture and "as a matter of principle" intends to take a $58,172 income tax deduction on the loss he suffered.

Testifying at the Senate Rules Committee confirmation hearing on the nomination of his brother Nelson to become vice president, Laurance said the book project was presented to him by Nelson Rockefeller's staff solely as a business investment.

The book in question was a critical biography of former Supreme Court Justice Arthur Goldberg, which was published four months before the New York gubernatorial election in which Goldberg was beaten by Nelson Rockefeller.

Asked if he expected to profit on the $65,000 he invested in a dummy Delaware corporation which published the biography, Laurance said: "I thought I would and I could and I should."

Husky man to reign at Homecoming

'Her majesty' sports a mustache at LVC

It's been a long-time tradition that top dignitaries get to kiss college homecoming queens.

But L.B. Newcomer, president of La Verne College, declined the honor Friday when he learned that the 1974 queen of today's homecoming festivities has a mustache.

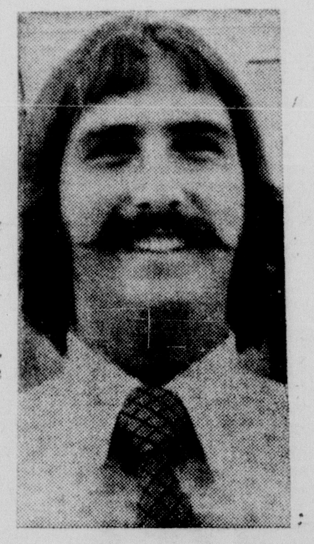
The pride of the La Verne College student body, the senior who garnered the largest number of votes among five candidates, is Alan Hines, a husky, 6-foot history and physical education major.

Newcomer said he'll pass this year's honors on to his wife, Barbara, "who for years has complained that she doesn't get to do anything official."

Newcomer said that in all his years he never kissed the college queens, and "this year is obviously not the time to exercise that tradition."

For Hines, who made history by becoming the first king of homecoming at the college, and probably anywhere else in the valley, there were certain problems that had to be solved: the use of the dressing room, where to pin the flowers, what gown — er — suit to wear, whether to sit while the rest of his court stands, etc., etc.

Hines and his princesses, Cyndie Rapoza, Jan Brandt, Irene Briones, and Kay Boone, were crowned Friday night and will preside over the La Verne-Redlands football game this afternoon.



ALAN HINES

The 21-year-old male contestant didn't even know he was in the contest until he was named one of the five finalists. Friends had entered him as a prank.

"He's a good-looking kid," Newcomer shrugged wistfully. "He'll probably get more kisses than he can handle."

Boat sinks, 50 presumed dead

CAIRO (UPI) — A sailboat carrying about 50 persons to a religious festival capsized and sank Friday in the Nile delta.

Police sources said no survivors were found and all those aboard were presumed drowned. Navy frogmen found 11 bodies by nightfall and the search for more was continuing.

The search for bodies was hampered because the bodies of some victims drifted downstream with the current, the sources said.

The boat sank in the Rosetta western branch of the Nile Delta near the town of Dessouk, 87 miles northwest of Cairo.

The sources said the boat, carrying about twice its capacity, was crossing from the east to the west bank of the river when it capsized in mid-stream.

A lesson for community, says judge

6-month term given in gang beating

A young Pomona man was sentenced to six months in the county jail Friday for a beating given a teen-age couple, and the judge stated that he hoped the case would serve as a lesson for the community by encouraging fearful victims and witnesses to testify.

Pomona Municipal Court Judge James H. Piatt told 18-year-old Roderick E. McGuire, 2216 Carlton Ave., that he was not making an example of him but rather was "making the punishment fit the crime."

The crime of which McGuire was convicted last month was assault likely to produce great bodily injury. The trial lasted seven days and the jury pondered the verdict about 12 hours.

The victims, both 17, were passing through a gate on the Ganesha High School students' parking lot after a basketball game last February when one of a group at the gate kicked the girl and then demanded that she apologize. When her boyfriend turned around, he was slugged, knocked down and kicked in the head. The attackers finally were driven off by an unidentified man.

"This was not a high school fight behind the gym," Judge Piatt told McGuire, "but an unprovoked, vicious beating by a gang which felt that their ability to intimidate, gave them a license to beat and kick (the victims) without fear of punishment.

"The evidence indicated that the victims could have suffered very serious injury or death if it hadn't been for the intervention of the (unidentified) man," he said.

Piatt said there had been problems bringing the McGuire case to trial and said it was similar to others which often go without prosecution because of "fearful victims, the apparent indifference of witnesses who don't want to get involved and a general feeling that 'why bother, no one will do anything anyway.' "

The judge added that "the courts must provide a forum for victims and be a place where they can go to complain and be heard and not be afraid to testify."

Watergate conspirator tells Cal Poly audience

McCord claims Nixon authorized illegal break-in

By ROBERT DASELER
P-B Staff Writer

President Nixon personally knew of plans to plant bugs in Democratic National Headquarters prior to the break-ins at the Watergate offices, conspirator James McCord believes.

McCord, addressing an auditorium full of students at Cal Poly Friday, said he has concluded that Nixon authorized the illegal entry into the Watergate complex.

McCord is suing to have President Ford's pardon of Nixon declared unconstitutional. The President's power of giving pardons does not extend to cases involving impeachment, the convicted Watergate burglar and former CIA agent argued.

McCord expressed disillusionment with both Nixon and Ford. He criticized Ford for submitting Earl Silbert, the original prosecutor in the Watergate case, for appointment as U.S. Attorney for the District of Columbia.

Nixon tried to get Silbert the appointment, but Congress did not vote on the appointment. Later Ford re-submitted Silbert's name for the U.S. Attorney's post. Congress still has not approved Silbert for the job.

Silbert was immediately involved in the cover-up following the Watergate break-in, McCord said, helping to protect white House aides who had prior knowledge of the crime.

McCord, convicted for the Watergate burglary, spent six weeks in the District of Columbia jail. He is appealing his conviction on the grounds that his trial was "corrupt." He says that his attorney, Gerald Alch, the legal partner of F. Lee Bailey, was conspiring with the White House to keep him from implicating top officials in the crime.

"Just about everything that could have gone wrong went wrong in the trial," McCord said.

His experience in the District of Columbia jail has made McCord an advocate of penal reform. There were 2,000 men in the jail when he was there, McCord said. Some of these men were allowed only one visitor a year. Others were not allowed to have mail. Men released from the jail often returned within 30 days.

McCord is promoting the sale of a book he has written about his Watergate experiences. He has formed his own publishing firm to publish the book, "A Piece of Tape."

He described his decision to join G. Gordon Liddy and Howard Hunt in the bugging scheme "the worst mistake of my life."

McCord was an FBI agent for five years and a CIA agent for 19 years prior to his arrest for burglary.

At the time that he met Liddy, McCord was chief of security for the Committee for the Re-election of the President.

"My decision to participate was made in the belief that it (the bugging plan) had the approval of the President," said McCord.

During his trial, McCord said, his attorney, Alch, told him that, if convicted, his request to be sent to Allenwood Prison, a minimum-security federal facility in Pennsylvania where inmates can play tennis and receive frequent visits, would be approved by the Attorney General's office.

McCord chose to stay in the District of Columbia jail, instead.

McCord's letter to Judge John Sirica in March of 1973 was the first crack in the Watergate cover-up. Before he sent the letter, McCord leaked some of its contents to Robert Jackson of a Southland newspaper.

During his trial, McCord said, John Caulfield, an employe of the Treasury Department acting on instructions from John Dean, offered him executive clemency and large sums of money not to tell all that he knew.

Caulfield has not been indicted, McCord said, but he could be charged with bribery and obstruction of justice.

The title of McCord's book, "A Piece of Tape," refers to the piece of tape used to keep a lock of a door in the Watergate office from closing. The tape was inexpertly put onto the lock in such a way that a piece of it was noticed by a security guard.

The security guard called the metropolitan police, and the police caught McCord and four Cubans inside the offices of the Democratic National Committee.

Architecture unit okays plans for Indian Hill office building

The Claremont Architectural Commission has given a favorable nod to architectural and site plans for a proposed office building at the southeast corner off Indian Hill Boulevard and Green Street.

Bob Boughton of The Encino Co. would like to develop the northerly portion of the six-tenths acre with a one-story building and parking for 26 cars.

The commission left tabled Wednesday night a review of architectural and site plans for converting a service station into a retail glass shop at 375 W. First St. because the applicant Jerry Benson didn't have more-detailed plans ready.

The commission approved the Claremont Lions Club's propsal to erect a sign for the club's recycling center across the street from the new Claremont Police Station on Berkeley Avenue. The sign would be constructed of cedar timbers with a natural wood stain and having routed lettering similar to National Park Service signs.

The commission approved for applicant Gene Hart plans to repaint and modify a double-faced wall sign to reflect his newly received Century 21 franchise, but held off approval of an interior illuminated sign until a rendering can be seen.

Youth hurt, arrested after traffic mishap

A car traveling east on Sixth Street in Ontario Thursday night suddenly turned left, bounced over a curb and crashed into a tree, injuring its 19-year-old driver, police reported.

Joseph Anthony Bertino Jr. of 411 Caroline Court, Ontario, was treated at San Antonio Community Hospital for facial lacerations and mouth injuries shortly after the accident. Police said that Bertino, after medical treatment, was booked in the West End Jail on suspicion of drunk driving.

Bertino told officers that he had swerved the car left to avoid hitting another car on Sixth Street and crashed into the tree.

The grant will enable Elliott to complete a book on population growth and its problems, an area he has been researching for some time.

The title of his proposed book is "American Law and Population Control." It will explore population and environmental overload optimum population, government influence on natality, history of existing aws on population, policy options, and prospects of solving the problems.

Revolver-armed pair sought in store robbery

Two men armed with blue-steel revolvers robbed Mickey's Holiday Liquor Store at 9187½ Central Ave. in Montclair of a small amount of cash Thursday night.

Liquor store Clerk Charles Manning reported the robbery about 10:50 p.m., according to Montclair police. Manning said two men described as Negroes walked up to the counter and produced blue-steel revolvers demanding all the money from the cash register. Manning said he placed the cash and coins into a paper bag and the two robbers fled.

Manning said one of them had a medium size afro with a goatee. He was wearing blue jeans and a dark jacket. He said the second man stood about 5 foot 3 and weighed 140 to 150 pounds. He said both men were 20 to 22. The other man was much taller and heavier.

But county gives neighbors last word

4-H animals win place in suburbia

SAN BERNARDINO (CNS) — The Board of Supervisors has approved an ordinance permitting animal education projects in R-1 zones after reinstating a provision that such projects have the approval of all residents within 300 feet of the proposed project.

The Planning Department had recommended that permission be obtained only from adjacent neighbors, after 4-H'ers and other youngsters had bitterly oppossed the provision that permission be obtained from residents within 300 feet.

The supervisors, however, reinstated the requirement at the request of Richard Roberts of the Enviornmental Health Services Department, who said that people who choose to live in R-1 neighborhoods do so in the expectation that they will not be neighbors to farm animals.

In his letter to the board Roberts said, "It is our experience that animal projects with good sanitation will cause some effect within at least the 300 foot area. Many times this effect is a mild odor, some flies and some noise. When sanitation is poor the effect is much greater than 300 feet."

The ordinance permits a maximum of three horses or cows and a maximum of nine calves, sheep or goats.

The applications for such projects require a fee of $5. In addition to the approval of all neighbors within a 300 foot radius of the proposed project, the application must also include a plot plan to indicate the location of the animal project and all proposed structures and all surrounding residential structures.

In other action Tuesday, an ordinance regulating the removal and destruction of trees was rushed into law by the supervisors in order to prevent deliberate attempts to circumvent the ordinance.

The board believed that approval of the ordinance was so urgent that it delayed the close of the meeting for about 20 minutes while County Counsel Stanford D. Herlick composed an urgency clause permitting the board to approve the ordinance without waiting the normal 30 day period.

It was First District Supervisor James L. Mayfield who persuaded the board to approve the ordinance immediately, after it appeared that the proposal would be delayed a week while the urgency clause was inserted.

Mayfield, whose district includes the area of chief concern, the San Bernardino mountains, objected to the delay saying, "I think any postponement would be defeating our purpose. If we give some of these people a week they'll be out stripping the land tomorrow in order to escape the provisions of this ordinance."

Mayfield made clear that the ordinance was aimed at developers and speculators who have in the past stripped trees from the land in anticipation of future development, which too often, never occurred, Mayfield said.

Enforcement includes a fine of $500 and a requirement to replant a tree for every tree removed.

Study urges improving quake safety, water, dam

By L. T. ROGERS
Asst. City Editor

Pomona shares with other California cities the constant threat of earthquakes. The city should consider building a tertiary sewage plant to provide water for industrial use. And the state should inspect San Antonio Dam for possible failure during seismic activity.

These were some of the findings and recommendations included in an environmental resource element for Pomona's updated master plan, approved Wednesday night by the city Planning Commission.

The 41-page document represents the work of some 300 residents who attended a series of workshops during a four-month period.

The element is the first of seven to be presented for approval during the next nine months. When adopted, all will be used by the City Council as guidelines for future developments. Other elements include community design, residential areas, economic development, circulation and transportation, human resources and public safety.

In the environmental resource element, officials noted the two most probably major earthquake sources for the Pomona area are the San Andreas Fault, located 20 miles northeast of the city, and the Sierra Madre Fault, located less than a mile north of the city.

Each of these two sources plus other potentially active faults could generate ground shaking in the city with different frequencies, accelerations, velocities and durations, they added.

"When these hazards are considered in the planning process and specific steps implemented, lives can be saved and economic and social losses can be prevented," they added.

The report recommended that all new buildings, particularly those having high occupancy and those housing emergency vehicles, equipment, medical and food supplies and public utilities be designed and constructed to withstand the shaking force of an earthquake without experiencing severe damage or collapse.

"By controlling the types of uses, structures and construction methods allowable in areas of potential seismic activity, the city can greatly reduce unacceptable risks," it added.

"To carry this policy out, the city's building and zoning codes should be reviewed and revised when necessary to reflect the latest technological building advances and land use control methods."

In an evaluation of water supply needs, the report notes that the present sources of supply should be sufficient to continue to meet the city's future needs on an annual basis. The city's ability to meet short-term peak demands and emergency situations, however, requires further strengthening.

"Continued population growth will generate more utilization of Metropolitan Water District water than is currently being used. This need becomes more apparent when considering the probability that the city's annual well production will be reduced because of water basin management developments now occuring in the Chino Basin Municipal Water District."

Principal efforts of the city will be directed toward improving the reliability of the Metropolitan Water District supply and increasing its ability to meet peak system demands," the report stated.

"The city will also attempt to reduce the industrial water demands upon its potable system through increased utilization of its reclaimed wastewater supply."

Regarding the Metropolitan Water District supply, the report suggests the most simple and effective way would be to correct deficiencies in the city's principal MWD supply line.

In the past, this line has been closed on several occasions for repairs. And when this occurs, the entire line may be shut down to isolate any particular section for repair.

"To reduce the industrial water demand on the city's potable water system, a tertiary sewage treatment plant should be added to the existing secondary treatment facility at the Pomona Water Renovation Plant," the report said.

"Tertiary treatment is needed because of industries' need for water of higher quality than secondary treatment can produce. Secondary treated water will still be used for irrigation purposes in most cases. Tertiary treatment of wastewater will also allow unlimited body contact and so reclaimed water can be used in the city's swimming pools and at Bonelli Swim Park."

The environmental resources element states that the conservation and reuse of limited water resources will become increasingly important as local sources become less available and the cost of imported MWD water rises in demand.

Study urges improving quake safety, water, dam

It suggests that city and sanitaton district representatives meet with officials of the state water resources control board and the Los Angeles and Santa Ana water quality control boards to assess the potential of federal and state participation in the new facility.

Under present federal-state construction grant programs, a community may receive up to 75 per cent of the capital cost of a waste water treatment or reuse project from the Federal Environmental Protection Agency, it stated.

Regarding flood hazards, the element notes that since a disastrous flood in 1938, the San Antonio Dam and miles of flood control channels have been built to prevent a repeat of the extensive damage and loss of life resulting from such flooding.

"Except for a few isolated cases, Pomona is well served by a system of local storm drains and several large flood control channels which carry storm waters away from the community."

A source of potential flood hazard is seismically induced failure at the San Antonio Dam, officials reported.

"Until the 1971 San Fernando earthquake and the near failure of the Lower Van Norman Dam, little attention has been given to this type of flood hazard. Principals of dam design, which were thought to be adequate prior to the 1971 San Fernando earthquake, are now being re-evaluated."

The potential for dam failure during a seismic event presents two problems, officials note. The first is the immediate danger of loss of life and property due to flooding.

This danger isn't extreme at the dam since its function is primarily flood control and large amounts of water are not stored there except during periods of heavy rain.

Should an earthquake rupture the dam immediately after a heavy rain, the results could be disastrous, the report warns.

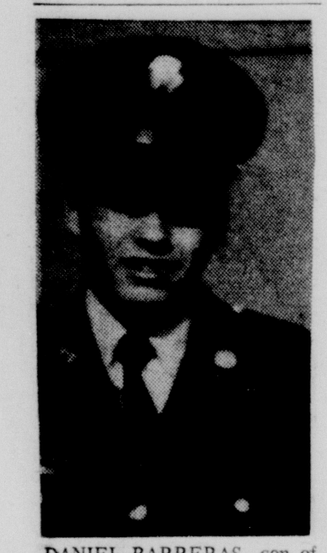
The second problem concerns the loss of function. While large quantities of water aren't stored at the dam, Pomona does receive some of its potable water from this source. And should this be lost, then other sources would have to be relied on more heavily than normal to meet domestic water needs.

"The city should insist that the State Division of Safety of Dams inspect the dam for possible failure during seismic activity. Further the city should encourage and work with the State Office of Emergency Services to prepare an area-wide inundation map and emergency response and evacuation plans to be enacted in the event of dam failure."

On other matters, the element includes these statements:

Air pollution. "Since the chief cause of air pollution has been identified with the internal combustion engine and the automobile is the primary means of transportation in the region, it is apparent that the city needs to cooperate with and receive the assistance of other governmental jurisdictions which have regulatory authority over air quality and empowered to develop an alternative means of regional transportation.

Solid waste pollution. "It is possible that sometime in the near future, it will be of greater economic value to recycle our trash instead of wasting valuable resources by burying them. Refuse is a natural resource of steel, aluminum, copper, paper and energy. A host of systems are presently being devised and in operation to treat garbage, sort and save metals, or turn it into energy."



DANIEL BARRERAS, son of Mr. and Mrs. jose Brreras, 523 W Fourth St., San Dimas, has been awarded a $200 scholarship from the Sociedad Progresista Mexicana Inc. Barreras is now attending Mt. San Antonio College where he is majoring in chemistry. He plans to continue his education at Cal Poly.

Consumer safety group makes monumental goof

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Consumer Product Safety Commission said that it is recalling one of its own products —a possibly dangerous button it put out to promote toy safety.

Involved are 80,000 buttons which say "For Kid's Sake, Think Toy Safety." A spokesman said the buttons were intended as part of a pre-Christmas toy safety campaign, but they have not yet been distributed by commission offices around the country.

Ron Eisenberg, public affairs chief for the agency, said commission experts found that the button has paint with a dangerously high lead content, sharp edges and parts which a child could swallow —some of the very hazards the commission has been after consumers to watch for in buying toys.

The buttons were manufactured for the commission by a Washington, D.C., firm.

We're not like others, so we're not having a GRAND OPENING!

The following prizes will not be given away:

The following celebrities will not appear:

Each of the 4day Tire Stores will not participate in the great American hokum.

In that case, what huge gigantic Grand Opening Celebration are we not having this week?

We're not celebrating our Mission Bay store opening of March 21, 1974.

We still haven't had a Grand Opening for this store. So when are we going to have our big celebration to draw the crowds to rush right over and mill around looking for hokey tire "specials"?

Never. We don't believe in it.

We don't believe in the fake excitement of special promotions with yo-yo prices. Up one week, down the next. Up, down, up, down, up. Mostly up.

Tires are not women's ready-to-wear. Tire fashions don't change from week to week. There's no reason to keep closing out slow moving numbers.

Tires are staple merchandise. Every tire dealer, including 4day, simply reorders more of exactly the same items he sold.

The bulk of replacement tires are sold to owners of cars two or more years old. No guesswork. The only buying problem is reordering an adequate supply of whatever you're selling.

Once in awhile there's a genuine special. A tire manufacturer may be discontinuing a certain type of tire from the line. Usually such opportunities don't occur at the precise moment of a Grand Opening.

If we do find an unusual buy that fits into our line, we don't bring it in to sell at the regular price so we can reduce it for a this-week's-special now and then.

We put it in our stores at the same low cut-price mark-up as the rest of our tires. And keep it there. Our special price is our regular price.

Knowledgeable tire people say you can't do business that way. You have to keep moving your prices up and down to have something to shout about. They say customers don't know the difference.

Those are the ones who should be putting their confidence in 4day.

Not all news is bad news

If today's front page headlines make you sad, here's one bit of news that should turn the corners of your mouth upward.

All our Michelin ZX and XAS steel belted radial tires, to fit imported cars, are lower in price today than we sold them for in March, 1973.

Maybe you should just skip the front page and always turn to the 4day ad first.

On the other hand, these Michelin bargain prices probably will go up about 10% in January.

And we undersell by giving you advantages when buying Michelins that you don't get elsewhere, so today might just be a good time to check the tread on your tires.

Trouble in Europe

We report the bad news as well as the good.

"US tire makers are not alone in experiencing declining sales and rising costs.

"Their counterparts in West Germany, which with its $800 million in sales annually is the world's third largest tire market, are. . . caught in the squeeze between falling car sales and skyrocketing production costs.

"Metzeler, in fact, has Bayer, the chemical giant, to thank for still being around. Bayer saved Metzeler from bankruptcy by increasing its holdings in the firm from 40% to 100%.

"Of Germany's 11 large tire manufacturers, only one, Michelin, is making a substantial profit.

"The others are barely holding their heads above water. They include such famous multinational names as Goodyear, Goodrich and Uniroyal, Pirelli, Dunlop, Conti, Phoenix and Metzeler.

"A possible solution is for Conti, Phoenix and Metzeler to merge. Bayer, which in addition to its 100% equity in Metzeler has interests in Conti and Phoenix, could have a lot to say about such a solution."

These are quotes from Business Week, Sept 7, and Rubber & Plastics News, Sept 23.

We mention all this to make you aware that Bayer, the German chemical giant that supplies much of the raw materials to European tire makers, and has an increasing background in radial tire building, is providing valuable expertise to IRI, the US firm that manufactures our new IRI all steel radial tire.

THIS WEEK'S TIRE SPECIAL!

Tire bargains for mini pick-ups

Assorted brands of new six ply tires that were original equipment on Datsun, Mazda piston-powered, Courier and Luv pick-up trucks.

TAKE-OFFS. BELTED. MISC. BRANDS. BLACKWALLS AND WHITEWALLS.
Cash & carry only. No mileage guarantee. Mounted, add $1.75 extra per tire.

One size only	Usual selling price elsewhere	Cash & carry, unmtd	Federal tax
600-14(6) bw	$30 to $34	$16.20	2.07
600-14(6) ww	$32 to $36	$18.00	2.33

We sell tires at wholesale as well as retail, you know.

To other tire dealers, gas stations, car dealers, etc.

Many of the dealers selling mini pick-up trucks have customers who prefer to order special wheels and high performance tires, which the dealers buy from us.

We take the original tires back in trade.

Then we can sell them at even less than our usual cut prices.

They carry the manufacturer's standard guarantee, but we can't add our usual minimum mileage guarantee because they're in assorted brands. We didn't buy them from the manufacturers, as we do with our other tires.

* * *

Hey, what about this? We say we never have special promotions.

This is a special, but definitely not a promotion.

Whenever we have an opportunity to offer an unexpectedly low price, we do so.

Except that we don't juggle the price, up one week, down the next.

We're putting these out at the lowest price we can sell them for.

And then we keep this price until they're all sold. Or until we receive more from the car dealers we sell to.

One policy. One price. Constantly.

Haircuts & tires

When a car owner drives into a tire store, the odds are three to one that he first asks, how much? His second question, how long?

Bert Anderson, assistant manager in our La Mesa store, is an observant student of human nature.

"People will wait for an hour in a barber shop for a $3 haircut," says Bert. "But they hate to wait 30 minutes for $300 worth of tires."

What Bert doesn't realize is that people might have to wait quite a few years for the $3 haircut to return.

Credit will be percentage of unused miles multiplied by price. Even if prices have increased, replacement will be at price you paid minus the credit due you. To keep in effect, bring guarantee to any 4day Tire Store every 4,000 to 6,000 miles so we can inspect tires, rotate them (free) if necessary, adjust pressure, inform you if alignment or other work required, and record date and mileage. † Note: No mileage guarantee on tires sold at our wholesale unmounted cash-&-carry prices. Our cash prices and our credit prices include cost of guarantee, inspection, rotation if needed, and mounting.

New pap smear test under development

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — University of California scientists are developing a "breast pap smear" which they hope will expose cancerous tumors before they can be felt or found by instruments.

The method, still in its experimental stage, is patterened after the widely known cervical pap test.

Researchers Adeline J. Hackett and Gertrude C. Buehring described the method Thursday as the removal of a small mounts of breast fluid, followed by a microscope analysis of fluid cells.

The test will be evaluated in the coming weeks with samples taken from women donors at Peralta Hospital in Oakland.

Hackett and Buehring believe they may be able to spot cancerous tumors long before they can be found by self-examination, X-rays or heat detecting instruments.

Buehring said conventional methods of detection frequently find tumors too late for surgery, radiation or chemotherapy to cure the patient.

"Sixty-two per cent of women who get breast cancer eventually die of it

Thomas Aquinas--700th Anniversary

Remembering the 'Dumb Ox'

By DAVID E. ANDERSON
UPI Religion Writer

To his classmates, as G. K. Chesterton reminds in his delightful biography, Thomas Aquinas was known as "the dumb ox."

History, however, has looked differently on the mind of Aquinas and the nickname that has stuck has not been "dumb ox" but "the Angelic Doctor."

This year marks the 700th anniversary of the death of Aquinas and therefore brings a whole series of reappraisals of both his life and work — especially among Protestants, prejudiced by Martin Luther's dismissal of the theologian as "the greatest chatterbox" of the medieval scholastics.

It has been marked, for example, by a major new biography of Aquinas, James A. Weisheipl's "Friar Thomas D'Aquino," along with a new edition of Chesterton's "Saint Thomas Aquinas: 'The Dumb Ox'" (both Doubleday, the latter a Doubleday Image paperback).

In addition, such magazines as the liberal Protestant "Christian Century" and the conservative Protestant "Christianity Today" have both run reappraisals of Aquinas.

It is noteworthy that contemporary commemorations mark Aquinas' death and not his birth.

That is partly because very little is actually known about his life. His date of birth is uncertain and for a long time his place of birth was a matter of scholarly dispute.

What is certain is that Aquinas was born into a turbulent age, not unlike this one, marked by many of the same problems as this one — urban squalor, university unrest, economic inflation and uncertainty, and exciting scientific breakthroughs.

All of these seemed to conspire against the faith of the church.

One example of the turmoil of the time touched Aquinas' life very directly. In 1244, after leaving the Benedictine monastery, Aquinas joined the still emerging Dominican order —a radical group stressing voluntary poverty, missionary zeal and a strong return to the Bible. His joining the Dominicans brought him into conflict with his family and they kidnapped him and held him under house arrest for a time.

A year later the young man was in Paris, studying at the university under Albert the Great, one of the most brilliant of the medieval minds. It was there that Aquinas, soon to be one of Christianity's greatest missionaries to intellectuals, acquired the nick-name "the Dumb-Ox."

Thomas' great contribution was in the appropriation of Aristotelian thought for theology.

Aristotle's thought was at that time the primary vehicle for a scientific challenge to the faith of the church but Aquinas argued that all philosphical truth has a place within Christian thought.

David Tracy, writing on Aquinas in the Christian Century, summarizes the enduring importance of his contribution:

"In my view, the ideal that Aquinas set up for a Christian theology —an ideal which asked for an attempt at a systematic understanding of the relationships between secular philosphical self-understanding and the principal meanings of the Christian tradition —is one that remains as correct ... as when it was first formulated."

Or, as Aquinas' friend and teacher Albert the Great is reported to have said, "You call him a Dumb Ox; I tell you this Dumb Ox shall bellow so loud that his bellowings will fill all the world."

CHURCH FLEA MARKET — The Rev. Jack Hays stocks shelves with some of the $10,000 worth of goods Seventh Day Baptist Church Surplus and Salvage Center in Bridge City, La., is willing to give away to the needy. Although paying customers crowd in, the needy don't seem to be interested.

But needy not interested

Seventh Day surplus center thrives; must be inflation

BRIDGE CITY, La. (UPI) — The Seventh Day Baptist Church has $10,000 worth of clothing and household goods to give away to the needy, but the Rev. Jack Hays said poor people don't seem to be interested.

A $500 legacy enabled the church to expand a 10-year-old informal program and open a surplus and salvage center a year ago. Now, it's the paying customers, 200 or 300 a day, who keep the center thriving.

"We've got one section with over 500 typerwiters and office machines. Clothes by the thousands of pieces. And shoes We have made this a commercial success to the point where it's financing the charity work," said the preacher of the church that belongs to a small southern sect.

The center is a flea market type operation in a rambling one-story building three blocks from the Bridge City traffic circle.

"I know inflation's why they're coming," Hays said of the paying customers who often drive up in fancy cars. "I had a woman come the other day with a bunch of kids. She took shirts, pants and shoes and literally outfitted five kids.

"She said she could afford to pay—but not at the prices they're charging at Woolworth's and places like that. Their total bill for the five kids was around $7."

But the poor people who could get what they need free, don't seem overly interested. If a person has a letter or other proof from a church or agency proving he is needy, Hays will give him anything the center has.

"I think the main problem is needy people just don't know they could come here," Hays said. "If the people of Bangladesh could take America's trash, they could live like kings."

Mr. Garcia's topic will be "Open Under New Management." Mr. Springer will preach on "The Parable of the Prodigal Father."

Educator addresses ministers' convocation

Can scarcity mother new ethical values?

"Modern mankind is now learning what most of mankind in its million or so years of experience took for granted; that scarcity is the normal situation of the human race."

Roger L. Shinn, acting president of New York City's Union Theological Seminary, offered this observation while addressing 325 ministers at the Minister's Convocation held recently at the School of Theology at Claremont.

Ministers from California and Arizona attended the gathering which each year explores developing theological issues of national and international impact. The current world wide shortage of resources, particularly the food shortage in developing nations and the ethical implications of how and to whom available food should be distributed was the theme of this year's convocation.

"Since the industrial revolution," observed Shinn, "human expections have assumed continuous expansion of production and consumption.

"It has always seemed as if scarcity could be overcome by technology. However, the technological answer — more sophisticated farming techniques to increase yield — usually softens rather than eliminates the problem.

"I want all I can get from technology," he said, "but I do not expect technology to remove the necessity of ethical decisions that are becoming more urgent and intricate.

"Ethical decisions are always encountered when we try and decide who should get what, when there is not enough to go around. What we need is a change in our value systems so that the values of survival and justice for all societies becomes universally accepted goals."

Another foremost ethical problem, he added, is to decide what obligation the present has to the future.

"Have we an obligation to bequeath a habitable planet to our descendants?" he asks.

Shinn quoted one scholar who observed that "there are more miserable people in the world today than there were 25 years ago, more in absolute numbers and in a higher proportion."

"Even so," said Shinn, "we may be better off than we think. We simply do not know how close we are pushing the world toward catastrophe. I assume that the problem of scarcity is and will continue to be real, although I do not know pressure points or the time schedule of the coming confrontations with scarcity."

Shinn explained historical methods of dealing with scarcity including war, sharing and self-sufficiency. All involve conflicts of interest, he said, and hence they are inherently hard to solve. For that reason societies have traditionally sought technological answers to difficult ethical problems. The unequal distribution of food and oil presents one of the most difficult ethical problems faced by society today.

"The pressure of circumstances," continued Shinn, "will require new ways of coping with scarcity and new modifications of extravagant consumption. If some ethical commitment can meet the pressure, people may move with some grace.

"Major social changes come in response to pressures. I expect to see some mini-catastrophes, such as power blackouts, pollution crises and transportation difficulties. I also expect to see society reluctantly face some hard choices.

"Although I expect limitations upon many freedoms that have been important in the past, I see possibilities for spontaneity that is currently minimized in contemporary industrialized cultures. I also see possibilities in a revised version of a new asceticism identified by a recent World Council of Churches conference as part of the voluntary life-style of committed people."

Faith Missionary marks 25th year

Faith Missionary Church, Pomona will celebrate its 25th anniversary this Sunday. Special activities include the Rev. Roy Ramseyer, former pastor, speaking at the 20:45 a.m. service, a celebration dinner at 1 p.m., the Rev. Jared Gerig, former pastor and president of Fort Wayne Bible College, speaking at the 2:30 p.m. service and a 5 p.m. service featuring slides and movies of past personalities and events at the church.

Begun in July 1949 under the leadership of the Rev. Orville Shick, the church first met in the Ebell Club House. In 1966 under the leadership of Mr. Gerig the group purchased the First Christian Church at 423 N. Main St. That year members voted to affiliate with the Missionary Church Association of Fort Wayne, Ind.

In 1966 the church relocated at 1173 San Bernardino Ave. The Rev. Daniel Dyck was then pastor. A new Christian education unit was completed in 1970.

The church now is seeking a pastor to fill the position vacated with the Rev. Joseph John's resignation in the fall of 1973. The Rev. John Hedegaard is presently providing leadership with strong lay involvement.

Insights on campus today

Randy Allset stepped up to the ticket counter of Specific Airlines. He'd seen their ads on TV and selected them for their slogan — "The Airline for People Who Know Where They're Going."

"I'd like a ticket on your Thursday, 10:18 a.m. nonstop flight to New York, please," said Randy, confidently.

Just down the concourse about fifty feet, Susie Wonders stood uncertainly in front of Columbus Airlines. She too had looked at the ads. Columbus Airlines slogan was "We Know You Don't Know Where You're Going, but we Feel Confident That We Can Help You Find It." They referred to their aircraft as "The confused bird with the tattered tail."

"I . . I'd like a plane ticket," Susie murmured tentatively.

"Where to, Miss?" asked the ticket man.

"Uh, well, . . . I, uh . . . I'm not sure," Susie answered.

"Can you narrow that down a little?" asked the ticket man.

"Well, uh . . . I'd kind of like to maybe take a look at some different places. Is that okay?"

"Sure," said the ticket man, "Can you give me a hint?"

"Well," sighed Susie, "Could I fly by the High Sierra, circle around Oregon a little, maybe sneak a peek at Denver, swoop down over the Grand Canyon and end up in the east someplace?"

The ticket man assured Susie that she had indeed come to the right place. Not only could Columbus Airlines handle her itinerary, but she could fly first class.

Obviously, there is quite a difference between Randy, who is Allset and Susie, who Wonders. But let's look at some of their similarities.

They're about the same age and come from similar cultural backgrounds. In fact, they graduated from the same high school in June, and their fathers are co-workers at a local widget factory.

And they are both faced with the identical problem. Sometime in the next few months they must choose a college or university. How will they approach this problem?

Well, if Randy Allset runs true to form, he shouldn't have much trouble. He will undoubtedly select one of the many professional or proprietary schools designed to train people for specific technology. He will be offered a specified selection of prescribed classes and course sequences to help him arrive at a predetermined state of preparation for a specific profession, job and-or career.

Randy will like it there. He will do well and, more than likely, prosper.

For Susie it is something else. She really doesn't know where she's going. She Wonders.

She needs to find an educational counterpart of Columbus Airlines — a school that will help her look around.

The school she selects should feature greater flexibility in course offerings, many possibilities for independent studies, off campus work — study learning experiences, a large amount of interaction with non-professor types from the "outside", and — perhaps most important — a receptivity to Susie and her special needs.

To belabor our analogy just a bit further, when Susie finds the right school for her, she will also find (1) the area of her greatest capability, (2) the vicinity in which she can achieve enjoyment and fulfillment, (3) the neighborhood in which her kind of work or career is located and (4) herself

Four reach 50-year mark with Masons

Four members of the Pomona Masonic Lodge were recently awarded 50-year pins. The pins are given to men who have been members of the lodge for 50 years.

Those honored were Ernest R. Geddes of Claremont, who prior to retiring in 1961 had served 16 years as an assemblyman for the 49th Assembly District of California; Grover C. Glass of Pomona, a retired real estate broker; Herbert Martin Rodewald of Pomona; and Forest W. Granger a former resident of Pomona, who is now living in Lancaster.

In addition, Earl Knie, was presented with a 50-year pin which had been sent by the Aberdeen Lodge 38 of South Dakota in honor of his 50th year affiliation with that lodge.

Knie, a 40-year resident of Pomona now living in Oceanside, was given the three degrees needed to become a Mason by the Pomona chapter after being accepted for membership in South Dakota. However, although he has never been inside the Aberdeen Lodge, he has never dropped his affiliation and membership with them.

Harmer will seek No. 2 spot in state GOP group

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Outgoing Lt. Gov. John Harmer Thursday announced he is a candidate for vice chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, saying the GOP was defeated at the polls this month because the party failed to motivate its followers.

Harmer pledged himself to restore the party to its "rightful position of prominence."

Republicans should realize the party suffered "total and devastating defeat" in the elections, Harmer said. But he warned against accepting the analysis that resentment over Watergate and the economic crunch were the reasons.

"We lost because the Republican party in California failed to motivate and mobilize its own people," Harmer said, speaking to the annual convention of the California Federation of Republican Women.

Harmer was appointed Lt. Gov. by Gov. Ronald Reagan, following Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke's resignation. The incumbency did not help Harmer in the election, in which he was defeated by Democratic State Sen. Mervyn Dymally.

The GOP central committee meets in February to pick a vice chairman who will probably become chairman at the end of a two-year term.

A committee spokesman said Harmer may be opposed by former Reagan aide Bruce Nestande.

Pomona wins share of SAL crown

Upland wrecks Ganesha, 28-21

By KEVIN CLOE
P-B Staff Writer

Jay Morton personally made sure Ganesha High wasn't going to clinch the San Antonio League football championship Friday night.

The Upland High quarterback scored on a six-yard run with only 35 seconds remaining in the game to give the Highlanders a 28-21 come-from-behind victory over Ganesha Friday night.

Upland's win threw the Giants and Scots into a four-way tie with Claremont and Damien for second place.

Pomona won at least a share of the SAL championship with its 17-13 win over Montclair Friday night. Garey could claim the other half of that title with a win over Chino tonight.

Upland and Ganesha aren't dead, however. If Garey loses to Chino tonight, there will be a four-way tie for second place, with Garey finishing third. The CIF announced earlier this year that it would be accepting at least two teams from each league for the post-season playoffs. So it's obvious that at least one of the four teams could make it to post-season play.

Morton's TD run wasn't the only thing he did in denying the Giants the league title.

The 6-1, 190 pound junior signal-caller drilled holes in the Ganesha secondary with his long aerials, turning the game around.

Trailing by a 21-7 margin, Morton took his Scots in for a score with a 56-yard touchdown strike to Alex Valenzuela in the third period. Then he set up what looked to be the tying TD when he hit his fullback Dominic Licavoli on a 35-yarder. Licavoli got down to the one on the play, and Morton took it over from there on the next offensive play.

But Ganesha's Alex Perez and Ed Lundstrom buried Upland running back Mike Rees at the one-yard line on the two-point conversion attempt with 8:39 remaining in the game.

That meant Ganesha still held its lead, 21-20.

Both teams exchanged turnovers in the next two minutes, but the big one was coughed up by Ganesha at its own 38 yard line. Upland came up with a loose ball following a nine-yard run by Lawrence Jacques and began its winning drive.

The Highlanders ate up four and a half minutes with its rushing game, Morton gaining 26 of the 62 yards on the drive. He made two key plays in the drive, picking up nine yards on a third-and-six situation at the Ganesha 44 and then rambled for 15 yards on a second-and-four situation to give the Scots the ball on the Giants' 12-yard line with only a minute to play.

Runs of one and five yards by Randy Sanders gave the Highlanders the ball at the six with 41 seconds to go, and then Morton swept the left side and spurted into the end zone for the score.

Upland came up with the two-point conversion this time on a run by Sanders.

Ganesha's explosive Wishbone offense did plenty of damage in the first half, racking up 324 yards in rushing in the first 24 minutes. But the Giants could only muster 88 yards on the ground in the second half, 48 coming on the last four plays of the game.

Ganesha opened the scoring in the first quarter on a 98-yard quarterback sneak by Bill Kearns, who just plowed up the middle and suddenly found himself with nothing but green in front of him.

Upland, however, came right back by opening the second quarter with an 80-yard kickoff return by Mark White following the Ganesha TD. White had taken a reverse handoff from Rees at the 20 after he fielded the kick at the 15.

The Giants scored two more times before the end of the half on a 15-yard run by Arthur Lane and an 18-yard run by Earnest Brown.

Devils beat Montclair, wait for Garey's result

By JOHN KEEPERS
P-B Correspondent

Pomona High clinched at least a share of its second consecutive San Antonio League championship Friday night by holding off Montclair, 17-13.

Following Ganesha's loss and Claremont's sound defeat, the Red Devils now have a definite berth in the CIF playoffs.

Pomona will own sole possession of the SAL crown if Chino can beat or tie Garey tonight. If Garey pulls it out, the co-championship will be Pomona's third in eight years.

The "Zibell Brothers" teamed up once again to help Pomona to its fourth league win against three losses and one tie.

This game, though, all they had to do was score as Charles Cole and Raymond Butler ate up the yardage between the goal lines.

After both teams went scoreless through the first quarter, Pomona had the ball on its own 25 yard line with just over three minutes gone in the second period.

On the second play from scrimmage, Cole took the handoff and ran 56 yards before he was brought down at the Cavalier 20 yard line.

Two plays later, Souza dropped back for a play-action pass and found Dave Zibell wide open for a 16-yard touchdown.

Neither team could sustain a drive for the next seven minutes and Pomona went into the locker room with a 6-0 lead.

At the beginning of the first half, Montclair drove all the way to the Pomona 20 behind the running of Jim Donaldson before Brent Jetton was intercepted by Pomona's John Nickerson.

This half, Pomona got the initial drive and scored in five plays. On the second play of the half, Raymond Butler broke loose for 34 yards giving the Devils a first down on the Montclair 26 yard line, but a penalty against the Cavaliers put Pomona in scoring position on the 13 yard line.

Cole then came one yard short on a 12 yard burst for another Pomona first down. One play later, Hank Zibell drove in for the TD. The Montclair defense stifled the fullback this game as he gained only 27 yards on nine carries.

The two-point conversion pass from Butler to Dave Zibell proved to be the winning margin.

Montclair came back with two second half TDs, but it wasn't enough. Jetton passed for 121 yards and a TD, going 8 for 24, to lead the Cavaliers offense.

Cole ran for 124 yards on only seven carries for a 17.7 average for Pomona. Butler carried 13 times for 88 yards and Souza went 6 for 13 picking up 110 yards. Dave Zibell also added a 40 yard field goal to top off the win.

Donaldson led all Montclair rushers carrying 15 times for 46 yards.

Damien slams 'Pack, 35-10

By GRAHAM CROW
P-B Correspondent

When Chino High and Garey meet tonight, the Cowboys will have a lot of rooters, including the entire football teams and staffs of Damien and Claremont highs.

The Spartans shattered Claremont's dream of a San Antonio League championship Friday night with a 35-10 thrashing of the Pack under the semi-lights at Damien.

The Silly And Looney League at least had a champion decided partially with Pomona's victory coupled with Ganesha's loss. But now the best Damien and Claremont can hope for is a Garey loss which would throw the whole mess into a four way tie for second. A league vote would then take place to decide the second representative to the CIF playoffs.

Claremont, spurred by a brilliant fireworks show before the game by its boosters, looked like champions for sure in the first quarter. The Wolfpack's initial drive netted 57 yards with Mel Pompa scoring on a seven yard pass from Kent Stalwick.

After adding the extra point, Jim Van Zee then connected on a 27-yard field goal to give Esper Kaiser's crew a 10-0 lead. But then Claremont seemed to lose its punch when Dan Thomas threw one.

Thomas, the hard running back for the Pack, was sighted for his blow with one minute gone in the second period and Damien took advantage of his ejection by scoring on an 11 yard pass from Joe Carroll to Steve Gaston.

This duo then ripped apart the Wolfpack defense in the second period as the Damien QB completed nine of his first 10 throws in that quarter with Gaston receiving seven of them.

Damien went ahead before the half as the Carroll-to-Gaston team set up a one yard scoring run by Carroll behind center Dan Farris' block. Rick Davis added both extra points and just missed expanding the Spartans', lead as his 47 yard field goal attempt hit the right upright eight seconds before the half.

The second half belonged entirely to the home team as Carroll continued to have good sucess in the air and Ruben Lopez turned into a human cannonball in breaking tackle after tackle.

Lopez got the final two touchdowns in the fourth quarter on runs of three and four yards and finished the night with 152 yards on 26 carries. Mark Lopez, no relation, scored the other Damien touchdown on a four yard run in the third quarter.

The turning point of the game obviously came when Thomas was thrown out as he makes up about 80 per cent of the Claremont running attack. Without him in the backfield, the Wolfpack was forced into a shotgun formation early in the third quarter in an effort to rally from a 21-10 deficit. But Stalwick was wild high much of the night.

Carroll won the battle of the quarterbacks with 11 completions in 21 attempts for 183 yards as Gaston grabbed eight for 125. Stalwick was just 11 for 27 with two intercepted and a net 151 yards.

Claremont not only lost the game and a chance at the championship but the 'Pack also lost some respect from several fans as three of their players were kicked out as the game deteriorated towards the end.

Everything from the non-present refs to the Damien fans came under verbal attack by some of losers after the game but it couldn't take away the joy of the Damien fans who were chanting, "We're Number One."

Would you settle for possibly Number Two?

Sorcery leads yachting event

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The slowest Los Angeles to Mazatlan race in the 13-year history of the event loomed Friday as the lead yachts failed to reach Cape San Lucas, the turning point at the tip of Baja California, after six days of sailing from Los Angeles Harbor.

In previous Mazatlan races, the 1,023-mile event has been wrapped up in six or seven days. Elapsed time record of the crossing is five days and seven hours.

Jacob Wood's 61-foot sloop Sorcery out of Marina del Rey, Calif., continued to lead the fleet on elapsed time and was about 80 miles from Cape San Lucas at 8 a.m. PST Friday. She still had 292 miles to go to the finish at Mazatlan.

The light weather conditions allowed the Class D boats to move up on the Class A leaders and take over the top handicap positions. Handicap leader was Broom Hilda, a 37-foot sloop sailed by Guido Mortartti of Marina del Rey.

Romans win, eye CIF play

By CRAIG TRAVIS
P-B Staff Writer

Gladstone High played as good a brand of football as it is capable of playing Friday night. But it wasn't good enough!

Royal Oak High woke up in the fourth quarter just in time to score two touchdowns to top the Gladiators 20-6 in their homecoming at Citrus College.

Royal Oak's win (5-1-1 league, 6-2-1 overall), coupled with Walnut's (4-3 league) 21-7 loss to Sierra Vista, insures the Romans of second place in the Hacienda league and a CIF playoff berth.

Outside of Gladstone's first play from scrimmage of the game, a 92-yard touchdown plass from quarterback Jim Wirth to flanker Frank Gildea, it launched only one drive (coming in the fourth quarter) and eventually stalled at the Roman eight, as RO checked the Glads on just 103 yards total offense and six first downs.

But the Glads (2-7, 1-6) played aggressive defense, especially against a team that entered the contest averaging 17.4 points per game (third in the valley), and trailed by one point, 7-6, entering the final 12 mintues of play.

The Romans started a scoring march with 3:34 left in the third period and scored on Vince Nixon's three-yard run, three plays into the fourth stanza, with Chris Rio's PAT giving the visitors a 14-6 lead.

Gladstone's Len Ochoa returned the ensuing kickoff 38 yards to its 46 and the Glads continued the drive to the Royal Oak eight before a fourth down pass fell incomplete. The key play in the march was a pass interference call against RO's Brian Jensen at the Roman 12.

The Romans then drove 92 yards on just eight plays with quarterback Jim Garcia scoring on a keeper from 17-yards out with 3:08 left in the game and leading 20-6.

Vince Nixon, who finished with 143 yards on 23 carries, had 37 yards on four totes, but Garcia, who wound up with 94 yards on nine rushes, netted 40 yards on a bootleg around end for the key play of the drive.

After Royal Oak's first series of the game ended in a punt to the Gladstone eight, Wirth spotted Gildea behind cornerback Larry Vecino and the pair collaborated for a 92-yard hookup. Sam Castonia's extra point was blocked.

The Romans wasted little time in driving the length of the field, 60 yards on 10 plays, with Nixon scoring from the two. Rio's PAT gave RO A 7-6 lead.

Wirth would up with 120 yards passing, connecting on six of 15, while the Romans held Gladstone to minus 17 yards rushing and intercepted two passes to run their season total to 24 thefts, surpassing last year's total of 22. Royal Oak finished with 382 yards total offense, 315 coming on the ground.

Trojans hope to enhance Pac-8 advantage today

All Southern California has to do today in its game against Washington is avoid a loss.

A victory or a tie would keep the Trojans in first place in the Pacific 8 Conference football race, what's left of it, and put them in position to wrap up the title and a Rose Bowl berth the following week against UCLA.

No one expects the Trojans, though, to lose to the Washington Huskies, although there have been enough upsets during the 1974 season to make any coach edgy, especially one with a chance for a post-season bowl berth.

Still, the oddsmakers, have pegged Southern Cal as a 22-point favorite over Washington, which is explosive on offense and so-so on defense.

"They do a lot of things well on offense," observed Trojan coach John McKay. "We'll have to shut them off some and then let our offense decide the game. Washington has one of the best coaches in the country in Jim Owen and they always play well against us. I'm trying not to pay too much attention to the odds. They could be misleading."

While Southern Cal is at home to the Huskies, UCLA is on the road at Oregon State. No question, the Bruins have to win to stay alive, and they are favored by only four points over the Beavers.

Meanwhile, California is a 14-point pick over Washington State for their game at Berkeley and Stanford is a 10-point favorite over Oregon for their game at Eugene.

Southern Cal has a 4-0-1 Pac 8 record while UCLA, Cal and Stanford are 3-1-1. The only way UCLA, Cal and Stanford can stay alive for the final week is by winning.

The race in the PCAA ended last week when San Diego State defeated Pacific to win its third straight league title, so this week they are merely playing out the season.

The Aztecs, 6-2 overall, are at home to New Mexico State while Pacific is at Wyoming, San Jose State at Fullerton State, Long Beach at home to Western Michigan and Fresno State at home to Wichita State.

Jim Hunter set to become a free agent?

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jim "Catfish" Hunter won the Cy Young award last month, but he goes after the big prize Nov. 26.

That's the day Hunter goes to arbitration with his claim of free agent status. Hunter contends Oakland owner Charles O. Finley defaulted on their contract, making him a free agent able to deal with any of baseball's 24 major league teams.

Obviously, a favorable decision in the arbitration would make Hunter's bargaining position an enviable one.

The contract dispute between Hunter and Finley arose out of terms concerning deferred payments. The pitcher's contract called for $100,000 a year—half on a deferred basis, payable to any person, firm or corporation named by Hunter.

Marvin Miller, who will represent Hunter in the arbitration as executive director of the Players Association, said Friday that Hunter had named an annuity to which Finley should make the payments and the Oakland owner failed to do so, even after being notified in writing by Hunter's attorney as stipulated by the contract.

Teams set for Boot Hill Bowl

DECATUR, Ill. (UPI) — Millikin University has accepted a bid to play Washburn College of Topeka, Kan., in the fifth Boot Hill Bowl football game in Dodge City, Kan., on Nov. 30, Millikin President J. Roger Miller announced Friday.

School officials said the invitation was accepted because the game will be played during a Thanksgiving recess and will not interfere with classes. It will be the second straight year in which Millikin has played in the Boot Hill Bowl. The Big Blue defeated Bethany College of Lindsborg, Kan., 51-7 last year in the bowl game.

This season's opponent, Washburn, an NAIA Division I team, has a 7-2 record and will play Pittsburg State on Saturday.

Millikin, 6-1, is tied with Illinois Wesleyan for first place in the College Conference of Illinois-Wisconsin and will finish its regular season on Saturday with a game at North Central.

Pitt can earn bowl bid today

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — Pittsburgh's Panthers can earn an immediate invitation to the Liberty Bowl today by upsetting Notre Dame.

In that event, said Bowl Director Bud Dudley on Friday, "We will be ready to do business with them immediately after the game."

But a Pitt loss or tie, Dudley said, would delay the filling of the nation's last available major bowl slot until at least Sunday, when the selection committee meets to review possible opponents for Maryland in the Dec. 16 Memphis Memorial Stadium tilt.

Tennessee and Georgia are still leading contenders for the bowl, but will not receive immediate invitations if they win today, Dudley said. Tennessee meets Ole Miss in Memphis and Georgia is at Auburn.

Lakers collect dividend from Lucius Allen deal

By DON BRADLEY
P-B Staff Writer

INGLEWOOD — The Lakers' trade for Lucius Allen paid its first dividends Friday night.

Allen led a fourth quarter spurt with 10 straight points as the Lakers snapped a four-game losing streak with a 105-99 win over the Philadelphia 76ers.

The former UCLA star wound up with a total of 24 points, nine rebounds, eight assists and five steals.

"I'm getting a lot more confidence now," the happy Allen said. "But I'm glad there are second halves in games."

Allen had 10 points in the first half, but was only four of 13 from the floor. He made seven of 10 in the second half. The score was knotted 90-90 with 6:55 left in the game when he came back in after a rest. Allen hit his next five shots in a row and scored 10 of the Lakers last 15 points.

The 76ers now have lost 14 straight to the Lakers, a string dating back to Feb. 19, 1971. Tonight the Lakers are in Portland, a game that will be broadcast and televised (KABC radio and Channel 5) beginning at 8 p.m.

The Lakers led by as many as 18 points in the first half, but went into a third quarter swoon which saw the 76ers outscore them 32-20 and catch them at 76-76, 78-78 and 80-80.

Gail Goodrich went 26:53 from early in the second quarter to 4:07 into the fourth quarter without a basket. "Their guards (Fred Carter and Freddie Boyd) are very good defensively," said Allen. "It was hard for Gail to shake loose."

Sun official wants to cancel playoffs

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — The World Football League playoffs should be canceled because they are certain to lose money, Southern California Sun general manager Curly Morrison said Friday.

"I would really like to see us cancel the playoffs," said Morrison of the Western Division champion Sun, "and acclaim the Memphis Southmen, who have the best record, champions.

"I think it's ridiculous to continue when we know the playoffs are going to lose us money."

Southern California, Memphis and six other teams are to play in the two-bracket inaugural WFL playoffs, beginning Wednesday. Central Division champion Memphis is the league's top team with a 17-3 record.

The finalists include the three division champs and five wild card teams.

"The players are going to get less than a game salary," Morrison said. "I think it's ridiculous for the players to risk injuries for a couple hundred bucks. I don't think they're going to be too happy.

"All the teams are going to lose money except maybe for the two that are going to be involved in the World Bowl and they'll be just about breaking even."

Morrison said with 20,000 season ticket holders, the Sun has sold only 8,000 seats for its opening playoff game at Anaheim Stadium Nov. 21 against Hawaii.

The Sun official said he has gotten agreement in talking to other WFL owners and general managers about the prospect of canceling the playoffs but declined to name them.

"The only other alternative is to have the playoffs with only the three divisional champions and the team with the best wild card record," he said. "That was the original plan for the playoffs.

"It's watering it down with eight teams involved."

Fontana nips Chaffey

Chaffey High's CIF hopes were blasted Friday night as Fontana slipped by the Tigers 24-21 in a Citrus Belt League game played at Fontana High.

The Steelers' Ruben Henderson scored on a 15-yard run with 4:35 left in the contest to put Fontana ahead. A last-ditch comeback attempt by the Tigers saw them drive all the way to the Steeler nine-yard line only to have Fontana's John Golden intercept a Larry Garcia pass.

Chaffey was leading 21-16 in the final period before a costly fumble set up Henderson's winning dash.

The Fontana win wiped out Chaffey's hopes of reaching the playoffs. The Tigers finished CBL play with a 2-3 ledger, while Fontana holds a 4-1 record.

Mike Cumpston's three touchdown runs had kept Chaffey in the contest until the final Fontana TD.

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI) — Buffalo Braves Captain Jim McMillian was operated on Friday night after an appendicitis attack and will be out of action for the next four to six weeks, a club spokesman said.

McMillian, a former Columbia University star, has had some standout performances for the Braves in recent weeks as the Buffalo team took a three-game lead in their division of the National Basketball Association.

McMillian, a forward, is the second Braves starter to be sidelined in the last two weeks. Last year's Rookie of the Year Ernie DiGregorio was operated on for a knee injury and will also be out of action for several weeks.

Cougars fall on late CSLA TD pass, 6-3

LOS ANGELES — A 25-yard pass from quarterback Rick Holoubek to wide receiver Billy Derrick with just two minutes left in the game gave Cal State Los Angeles a 6-3 win over visiting Azusa Pacific Friday afternoon at Diablo Field.

The pass, coming on a third and 25 situation, was the 28th touchdown pass of Holoubek's career at CSLA and tied him with John Erdhaus, now an assistant coach, for the school career record.

The 5-9, 165-pound signal-caller also broke Erdhaus' career passing mark of 185 completions. Holoubek, who connected on only five of 17 attempts, for 104 yards, now has 189 passes in two seasons.

The loss was the fourth straight for Azusa Pacific which is now 3-5. CSLA is 5-2-1 after having gone a month without a victory.

Azusa Pacific had taken a 3-0 lead 44 seconds into the final quarter on Brad Kramer's 29-yard field goal. The rest of the time the two teams pushed each other around with CSLA doing most of the pushing. The Diablos had 17 first downs to APC's seven.

Jim Farmer of the Cougars netted only 13 yards on 12 carries as the Cougars were held to 45 yards rushing and 80 passing.

"We set the tempo," said CSL coach Jim Williams. "It was a lethargic game. If we slow down, it seems the other team slows down too."

It was a frustrated coach Jerry Sconce of APC who greeted writers: "I've seen the whole thing happen all year long," he said.

All six Southern California Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (SCIAC) football teams will be playing in either Claremont or La Verne this afternoon.

La Verne College (2-1) hosts Redlands (3-0). Pomona-Pitzer (1-1) takes on Whittier (3-0) and Occidental (0-3) visits Claremont-Mudd (0-3).

For La Verne, another loss will end any hopes of even a tie for first place in the conference race. The Leopards must defeat the Bulldogs and hope either or both the Sagehens and the Bulldogs beat Whittier.

It's homecoming for the Leos and the last home game for 14 seniors including Jeff Button, John Karns, Chris Hawks, Francis VanderKallen, Paul Larson, Dan Church, Brad Baughmann and Grant Seiler.

The La Verne defense, best in the league, will get a thorough test from the formidable Bulldogs. Redlands has been hotly contesting Pomona-Pitzer for the conference lead in offense. The Bulldogs come into the fray trailing the Sagehens by an average of 13.2 yards per game.

Quarterback Chuck Hiroto is the league's sixth leading rusher and fourth leading passer. He is a distant second to the 'Hens' Larry Cenotto in total offense with an average of 127 yards per game.

Running back Jim Esposito is fifth in rushing. Receiver Eric Thomasson is fourth in reception yardage. Punter Brian DeRoo is first in punting with an average of 40.1 yards per kick.

Three Bulldogs, kicker Don Damschen, David D'Arcangelo, and Thomasson, are among the top 10 in scoring.

The Leos will counter with the conference's two top rushers, Roy VanderKallen and Curtis Frick. "Dandy Vandy" has gained 599 yards and Frick has 564.

Quarterback Randy Brown is sixth in passing with 32 completions in 73 attempts for 342 yards and two touchdowns. But Brown, working behind a strong line, has been intercepted 10 times, or about one of every seven times he passes.

Frick is the Leos' leading receiver with 15 catches for 216 yards. Kicker John Karns ranks third with an average of 36.6 yards per punt.

Frick and Karns are second and 10th respectively in scoring with 36 and 21 points.

It will be homecoming at Pomona-Pitzer too. Whiz-bang quarterback Cenotto will be playing his last game at Alumni Field along with ace tight end Biff Sherman, lineman Eric Friedman and Kim Aguirre. These players have been the backbone of coach Walt Ambord's team.

Cenotto will take with him the school's career passing and total offense records.

Whittier has just begun to find it's aerial game under quarterback Mark Montgomery. Montgomery hit on nine of 18 passes for 132 yards in beating La Verne last week.

At Claremont-Mudd, the battle will be to climb out of the cellar as both the Stags and Tigers are winless in league play.

Punchless Oxy is last in offense but second in defense. The Stags are third in offense and fifth in defense.

The Tigers have scored an average of only 6.6 points per game.

★ ★ ★

Kickoff for the key conference contest between the two unbeaten teams is scheduled for 7:30 p.m.

Saddleback has only a 27-27 tie with Grossmont in conference play to marr its record for the season. Citrus is undefeated and untied in Mission games but had a 14-14 tie with Mt. San Antonio in the season opener.

For Citrus, the contest is the first of back-to-back games with the top teams in the conference. Next Saturday they host Grossmont.

Saddleback ranks No. 1 in the conference in total defense and No. 3 in total offense. Citrus is No. 1 in scoring and No. 1 in total offense.

Saddleback has the No. 2 passer in Vern Mikkelson, who has completed 52 per cent of his attempts for more than 1,300 yards and 16 touchdowns. His favorite receiver, Jim Poettgen, is also No. 2 in the conference with 44 receptions for 599 yards and 10 TDs.

The Owls boast the top rusher in conference, however, in Roy Prather, a freshman tailback from Arcadia, who needs 71 yards tonight to reach 1,000 for the season.

Second in rushing to Prather is teammate Ed White who has 653 yards. They have a dozen touchdowns between them for the year.

Coach John Strycula believes the Owls will have to better balance their attack against Saddleback to win. He'll call on his quarterback son Bill to throw the ball more.

The quarterback has completed 43 of 96 attempts for 707 yards and five touchdowns. His main receiver is John Krawczk who has 16 receptions for the season for 342 yards and one TD.

While the Owls tangle with Saddleback, Chaffey hosts volatile San Diego City in an afternoon game (2 p.m.) and Grossmont hosts Palomar and San Bernardino visits Riverside.

Chaffey will be looking for its second win of the season against San Diego which boasts the No. 3 defense in the conference.

Panther running back Rick Carr has 446 yards and four touchdowns to rank among the top rushers in the conference and brother Lonnie Carr has 31 receptions for 418 yards and two TDs to rank in the top four in that category.

Mounties try to end FJC's dominance in game at Big A

By MIKE RAWLINSON
P-B Staff Writer

Mt. San Antonio College football coach Mal Eaton doesn't often spout poetry when talking about his football team or its chances in the South Coast Conference.

But tonight's 7:30 meeting with Fullerton JC at Anaheim Stadium is an exception.

"Eleven has always been my lucky number," Eaton said this week. "Seven-come-eleven, the Mounties may be in heaven."

If not in heaven, MSAC will certainly be solidly in first place if it can beat the Hornets this evening. If the Mounties do so, they will avert their 11th loss in a row to Fullerton.

Eaton has suffered through three of the defeats: 57-7 in 1971, 33-7 in 1972, and 28-21 last year. Eaton figures he's getting closer each time and this year may be his lucky one.

After an 0-4-2 start, MSAC has won two South Coast games in a row and shares first place in the standings with defending champion Fullerton Orange Coast and San Diego Mesa.

Fullerton, 3-3-1 overall, has had a disappointing season thus far. A win tonight and next week would do wonders for it.

The game shapes up as a classic duel between the run-oriented Mounties and the pass-oriented Hornets.

MSAC's Binky Benton needs only 49 yards rushing to reach 1,000 for the season, while Fullerton's double quarterback attack is looking for 2,000 yards through the air.

Ron Anton, a pure passer, has more than 1,000 air yard already, and Bob Acosta has thrown for more than 500. He has also rushed for an additional 108.

The Mounties will probably see more of Acosta than Anton in the contest, however.

MSAC is No. 1 against the pass among conference teams, having allowed a little more than 80 yards per game in eight contests. Against the run they have been considerably more vulnerable, and Acosta loves to carry the ball on the option from Fullerton's veer-T offense.

If they pass, the quarterbacks have four top receivers who have caught 22 or more passes for the season. Tight End Chris West (6-3,200) leads the foursome with 25. Kevin Spencer, Richard Hernandez and Gaylon Ratliff have 22 apiece.

Assigned to cover them will be Mountie defensive backs Tyrone Johnson, Greg Mahood, and Mark Saris and linebacker Larry Torres, among others. The four have each intercepted one pass this season.

The teams have three common opponents in Golden West, Orange Coast and Cerritos. Both teams beat Cerritos with field goals in the closing seconds and lost to Coast.

Fullerton beat Cerritos last week, 20-17 and the Mounties accomplished the feat two weeks ago as Mando Herrera booted a 19-yarder with 28 seconds left for a 17-16 win, MSAC's first.

Against Golden West, Fullerton prevailed while the Mounties dropped a 20-3 decision. Against Orange Coast, Fullerton fell 29-14, while MSAC lost, 19-11.

Broncos finish up grid season today

By BILL LANGLEY
P-B Sports Editor

HAYWARD — Cal Poly will complete its most successful football season in a decade here this afternoon against Cal State Hayward.

The Broncos had dreams of a California Collegiate Athletic Association championship and a berth in the NCAA Division II playoffs when the season started under coach Andy Vinci but will settle for a final 6-2-2 mark with a victory today.

An earlier trip to the Bay Area knocked Poly from its high hopes of a national ranking.

The Broncs traveled across the bay to San Francisco State for their game of the season with a 2-0 mark. Poly jumped out to a 17-6 lead only to see the Gators rally in the fourth quarter for a 21-17 victory.

Vinci is anxious to avoid the same fate today.

"We have dedicated ourselves to a 6-2-2 season," Vinci said. "But we just can't get on the plane and go north thinking we have a win. It just won't be that easy."

Today's game at Hayward's campus stadium will start at 1 p.m. KSOM (1510 AM and 93.5 FM) will be broadcasting the game to the Pomona area.

Poly is enjoying its best season since the 9-1 campaign in 1962 and only its second winning record in a decade. Hayward, 2-5, for the year, is looking for its first non-conference win since 1971.

Today's opponents have met three common foes. Poly lost to San Francisco State, blanked Sacramento State 21-0 and tied Cal State Los Angeles 22-22.

Meanwhile, Hayward was defeated by all three teams losing to CSLA 34-26, Sacramento 10-7 and San Francisco 28-25. The Pioneers' two wins were over Humboidt State (28-20) and Chico State (17-10) last week.

Vinci realizes it can be tough to win on the road in the Bay Area.

"Hayward is just as big as Northridge (a close 14-12 loser to Poly last week) but the difference is they have a quarterback," Vinci said.

Vinci was talking about Mike Jacinto, who was voted the offensive player of the year in the Far Western Conference last year. Defensively, the Pioneers count on linebacker Gary Blankenship, a third team All-American choice last year.

Today's game will end the careers of several outstanding Poly seniors with quarterback Jim Zorn leading the list.

Zorn, last year's NCAA Division II total offense leader, is second in the nation this year with 2,194 yards, average of 243.6 per game. He is also the nation's fourth leading passer with 118 completions in 231 attempts for 1,621 and ranks second in the CCAA rushing stats with 448 yards and 10 touchdowns.

In a surprise announcement, Poly said senior halfback Rich Paulson, who has missed two games with a knee injury, will be able to see some action today even though freshman Mike Harris will start.

Paulson still leads the CCAA in rushing despite the inactivity with 563 yards. Harris now ranks fifth with 398 yards on only 83 carries after his big week against Northridge.

San Dimas vs. Bonita at MSAC

The Hacienda League has already been decided. But as far as Bonita and San Dimas are concerned there's one more game to be played, the Smudge Pot Bowl.

Bonita (8-0 overall, 6-0 league) has nothing at stake but its pride, the school's rivalry (San Dimas owns a 2-0 series edge), and an unbeaten season. They meet at Mt. San Antonio College at 1 p.m. today.

San Dimas (3-4-1 overall, 3-2-1 league) has a great deal on the line . . . like, a possible playoff berth. Rumor has it that the CIF may take three teams from the HL to fill some of the open at-large berths in the playoff scheduling. So, should either Royal Oak or Walnut lose the Saints might get to go into post season play as a third place team. And should both the Romans and the Mustangs lose, San Dimas might go as the runnerup.

Offensively, both teams are vastly improved. San Dimas scored 61 points against Alta Loma and Ontario before being shut out by Walnut last week. The Bearcats, now sixth in the valley in scoring with a 15.6 average, showed their best offensive display against Royal Oak last week.

San Dimas has won the last two years.

Chino vs. Garey at MSAC

This game could be the SAL title-decider. Or it could give Garey a chance for a CIF playoff berth. Or it could mean absolutely nothing.

It all depends on what happened Friday night in the San Antonio League.

If Garey (3-2-1, 3-3-2) can wins tonight (7:30 p.m.), it will put itself in a CIF playoff position.

Chino won't be a pushoff though. The Cowboys (2-4, 4-4) were pre-season favorites to win the SAL title, but came up with a disappointing season and now sit in seventh place.

But the explostveness of the Cowboys' Veer offense is still there.

However, Rick Riedel, the valley's leading scorer, may miss the game with an injury. Richard Krzysiak will probably call the signals again, while Art Carbajal and Sam Souza share the running chores if Riedel can't make it.

Garey's offense is also explosive, with such speed-burners as Dana Hutchison and Doug Hughes playing behind quarterback Marcus Thomas.

Chino walked off with a 14-8 win last year.

L. V. Lutheran at Webb

This matchup might well be called the "Pride Bowl."

Neither the Trojans of La Verne Lutheran or Webb's Gauls have had much of a year in Arrowhead League play, but that could all be forgotten by today's victor. Game time is slated for 2 p.m. at Webb.

Today's contest should be the start of a spirited valley rivalry between these two Arrowhead entries, and both teams should be up for the occasion.

Webb, running out of their single-wing attack, could give the less-experienced and undermanned Trojans problems. However, the La Verne school has shown an effective offense at times this year and if the Trojans get rolling early they might be mighty tough to beat.

Texas Lutheran picked by NAIA

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Undefeated and top-ranked Texas Lutheran has been chosen to play in the NAIA Division II playoffs, executive secretary A. O. Duer has announced.

PCH girls win CIF game

Pomona Catholic High's girls volleyball team opened CIF playoff action Thursday afternoon by defeating Moreno Valley, 15-8 and 15-11, at Simons Junior High.

The all-girl parochial school will advance to the second round of action against either Royal Oak or Marymount Saturday.

The varsity starters for Mrs. Bonny Phillips Pomona club consists of Kelly Fox, Sharon Botsford, Ann Cottrell, Beth Cottrell, Mary Knipe and Terry Chrisman.

The competition involves a best-of-three game series.

Pairings set for Cable Car

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The University of San Francisco Dons, shooting for their fourth consecutive West Coast Athletic Conference basketball title, will meet Big 10 contender Michigan State and PCAA champ Long Beach State will face Santa Clara Dec. 20 in the opening round of the eighth annual Cable Car Classic, it was announced Tuesday.

The Classic, Northern California's only major college basketball tournament, will be held this year in the USF gym, the first time it has been taken out of a public arena. The first round winners will meet for the title the following night.

Johnny Wonder's QUESTION CORNER

Q. "HOW MANY LEGS DOES A CENTIPEDE HAVE?"

JANET SCHRODE
NEWPORT, KY

THE NAME "CENTIPEDE" MEANS "HUNDRED FEET." SOME CENTIPEDES ACTUALLY HAVE 100 LEGS. SOME HAVE MORE AND SOME HAVE AS FEW AS 30 LEGS.

JOHNNY WONDER'S PUZZLE BOOK: 60 pages of fun and games. Order your book now. Send $1.25 to Puzzle Book, (% this newspaper), P.O. Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

Have you ever turned over a rotting log and seen a small, wormlike creature with many legs scampering quickly away from the light?

The chances are it was a centipede.

The name "centipede" means "hundred feet."

The centipede's body is divided into many sections. Each section has a pair of legs. Some centipedes actually have 100 legs. Some even more than that! The common house centipede has only 30.

The centipede can run very fast. It has two poison claws which it uses to catch insects and other prey.

They may sting if handled roughly, but the sting of a house centipede is not serious.

The many-legged millipede has even more feet than does the centipede. Its name means "thousand feet," but no millipede has that many legs, though they may look like they do.

Some kinds have over two hundred feet.

They move slowly in spite of their many legs.

A radio, camera, globe or other fine prize will be awarded to the first youngster sending in a question used here. Send your question and your age to Johnny Wonder, (c/o this newspaper), Box 1335 (DA), Santa Cruz, CA 95061.

Bridge

Takes finesse to hold back

By Oswald & James Jacoby

The fact that it is there may well be a good reason to climb a mountain, it is not always a good reason to take a finesse.

South was one of those compulsive finessers. He wasted no time plunking dummy's jack of spades on West's 10 spot, whereupon East produced the queen. The presence of both minor suit aces in the West hand, together with a five-card spade suit, saw poor South losing three spade tricks and these two aces.

Opening lead—10 4

All South had to do to insure his contract was to refuse that spade finesse at trick one and let the 10 run around to his king.

South would knock out either minor suit ace and West would play a second spade. This time South should finesse dummy's jack. The finesse would lose, but East wouldn't have a spade to lead back. South would have time to knock out the other ace and wind up making four no-trump.

Of course, a South player using mirrors could refuse the finesse the second time round and make five odd, but that play would cost him his contract if West held the queen of spades. This way the contract was safe.

Church keeps beer flowing

YARMOUTH, England (UPI) — The church kept the beer flowing Tuesday when a power failure forced the Ship Inn to close.

Power and beer were restored when officials of the church next door allowed engineers to hook the pub's power lines into the church's supply.

"The Number one selling car in Europe"

FIAT HAS A CAR FOR EVERYONE

FIAT 128 Sedan

#128A1819319
Only the designing ingenuity and engineering excellence of FIAT could have produced this incredible sub-compact: FIAT 128. The economy car that offers all the advantages of smallness with none of the disadvantages. It's shorter in length than VW — but it's bigger inside. That's the result of mounting the front-wheel drive engine transversely so that it occupies just 20% of the total interior — leaving fully 80% for passenger room and a 13 cu. ft. trunk. The 4 door model has the same interior and exterior dimensions.
And space isn't the only advantage.
Discover why the FIAT 128 has won more International Car-Of-The-Year awards in Europe than any other car in history.
STANDARD EQUIPMENT INCLUDES:
● 4-speed Transmission ● Front Disc Brakes ● Dual brake System ● Radial Ply Tires ● Reclining Bucket Seats ● Wheel Independent Suspension ● Unitized Body Construction ● Flow-Through Ventilation.

Campaign seeks to save a tradition

Story on Page 4

It Happened in Pomona

By Doc Peirsol

A very good year

There's no doubt about it! Pomonans lead simpler, less confusing lives in 1904 — and in those days they were also blessed with the fact that the purchasing power of a dollar was something they didn't have to apologize for. After all, didn't we have a Pomona Daily Review to chronicle those glorious facts and preserve their memory for posterity? Sure we did! And there you will find it recorded in deathless print that:

In 1904 a Pomona daily newspaper cost only 25 cents a month or $3 by the year.

In 1904 Pomona's government employes were dedicated individuals — one might even say, gluttons for punishment. In those days the Pomona Post Office had only one rural mail carrier and he delivered mail to 248 houses.

That was the year it cost only 10 cents admission to attend a Ladies Aid lawn party. — The year when Jenssen & Fountaine, 497 W. 2nd Street, were advertising "Evaporated Horseradish" for only 25 cents a bottle.

But perhaps the most amazing thing of all was that in 1904 there was no such thing as Women's Liberation to cause strife and unhappiness between the sexes. In fact, that was the year The Pomona Daily Review reported: "Five girls recently won husbands by their dexterity in running lawn mowers."

Confused fowl

Natives only to the Western Hemisphere, turkeys acquired their un-American name from some initial confusion about their origin. They were mistaken for African guinea fowl, which had come to Europe via the Turkish Empire. Spanish conquistadors were the first to sail home with the guest star of Thanksgiving and Christmas dinners.

Coins

A $225,000 dollar

By MORT REED

The Idler specimen of the famous 1804 silver dollar changed ownership three times in two weeks. According to a story out of "Coin World," the final price of $225,000 is the largest ever paid for a U.S. silver or copper coin.

The famous idler specimen, which sold for $150,000 a year ago, sold twice in quick succession in the latter days of September and early October at prices ranging from $200,000 to $225,000.

Bowers and Ruddy Galleries sold the coin first to Blackburn and Blackburn, a Washington firm for the advertised price of $200,000. Within the week it was sold to Continental Coin Galleries of Minneapolis for a record price of $225,000.

The Idler specimen is generally known to be the finest of the 1804 dollars with a noticeable proof surface in the field and extremely sharp edges on the lettering.

The coin was originally acquired from the United States Mint by William Idler in the 1850s. It was later sold by his son-in-law in 1908 and subsequently passed to the celebrated William C. Atwater collection.

In 1946 it was placed on the market by Max Mehl and later became the property of Edwin Hydeman. Twice between 1961 and 1972 the 1804 dollar changed hands again. In 1973 the Bowers and Ruddy galleries paid $150,000 for the coin purchased from a private owner in Atlanta.

The 1804 dollar, while not the rarest issue of the U.S. Mint, is the world's most famous "necessity" coin. Officials of the Mint in 1830, when preparing a set of U.S. coins for presentation to certain foreign dignitaries (the King of Siam and the Imam of Muscat), were faced with the absence of a dollar-size coin in the set, since none had been struck since 1803.

To fill out the set, they employed the dies of the 1803 type but stamped the date 1804 as the date. The dies were not destroyed until 1850.

In this period, Mint officials began to build a national numismatic collection, but with a shortage of earlier specimens it was necessary to produce at least a half-dozen 1804 dollars including the Idler specimen.

In all, a total of 15 1804 dollars are known to exist. Five are permanently impounded in museum collections. Only one other has appeared on the market since 1963.

Campaign to save tradition

The cluster of brown and white buildings is nestled beneath towering pine and eucalyptus trees on 10 acres of land with green grass and cactus plants in North Claremont.

On the grounds, dogs romp freely and the spirit of the occupants conveys an open and creative atmosphere.

It was formerly a girls' boarding school and, as such, the third oldest girls college preparatory school in California. Today it remains steeped in the tradition of alternative education and individual instruction and guidance.

But also today, Claremont Collegiate School, located on Padua Avenue, is in financial trouble.

Arthur Biscoe, headmaster at the Collegiate, blames the current crisis on spiraling costs and inflation.

At the present time, the student population at the Collegiate totals 31 students in seventh through 12th grades. In 1973 the school had an enrollment of 50 students.

"I'd like us to have 50 students again, we need at least 50 to survive," said Biscoe. "But with inflation, many parents cannot afford to send their children here."

To counteract the loss of students and in turn the loss of tuition monies, the Collegiate was forced this year to increase tuition by $100. At the present time students in the seventh and eighth grades pay $1,400 pere school year. Students in the ninth through 12th grades pay $1,600 per school year.

Yet with increased costs, tuition presently covers only 46 per cent of the $100,000 needed to operate the school on a yearly basis.

The Collegiate, formerly Girls Collegiate School, was established in 1892 in Los Angeles by two Eastern teachers, Miss Alice K. Parson and Miss Jeanne Dennen.

In 1925 the school moved to Glendora. Twenty years later a second move brought it to Claremont, where it was located on the campus of the Claremont Colleges.

In 1955 the Collegiate moved to its present site on Padua Avenue. Then in 1971, the school became coeducational and changed its name from Girls Collegiate to Claremont Collegiate School. The final change occurred in 1973 when the school stopped accepting boarding students and became a full-time day school, serving students, both boys and girls, from around the valley.

ARTHUR BISCOE
. . . headmaster

In recent years the Collegiate has remodeled its facilities, changing old dormitories into classrooms and adding a workshop, chemistry laboratory, art center, pool, tennis courts and a track and playing field.

The school is operated by a nine-member board of trustees, which has governed the Collegiate since 1953, when the school was incorporated as a non-profit institution. Before this, the Collegiate was owned and operated by a succession of headmistresses. The last headmistress to have both owned and directed the school was Miss Mary Ada Edwards, who retired in 1953 after serving more than 50 years as headmistress.

Board members elect their membership in November on an annual basis. "Members are chosen for their interest in the Collegiate and their interest in private education," Biscoe said. At the present time, I. Alan Sparks, formerly with the Claremont Colleges and now a faculty member at San Diego State, is serving as president of the board.

The academic program of the school includes courses in each of the major areas of liberal arts. Ten faculty members teach classes in English, literature, Spanish, French, history, mathematics, laboratory sciences and physical education. All classes are taught on the school grounds, commencing at 8:30 p.m. and recessing at 3:30 p.m.

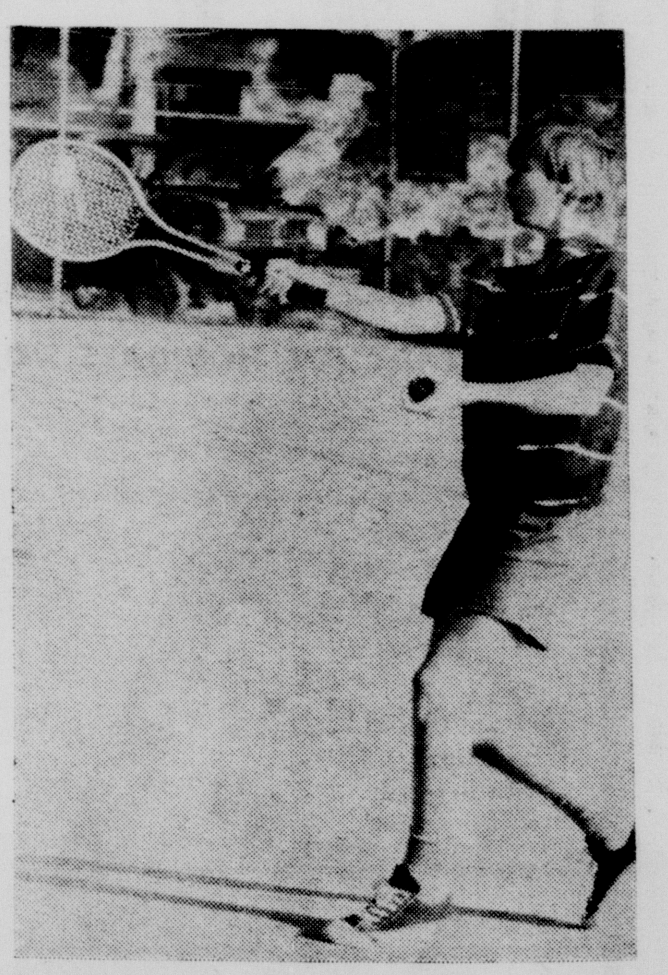
To raise the additional funds to operate this year and in coming years, Collegiate will undertake, beginning next Saturday, a two-year, $300,000 fund-raising campaign. The money will go toward erasing current liabilities, which include a $41,000 mortgage on the property and the cost of a new roof on one of the buildings, and to expand its present facilities.

"We would like to improve the science laboratory, library, art studio and woodworking shop. And to build a better basketball court and increase our playing field," said Fred Sharp, chairman of the campaign. "And we figure this will take approximately $200,000."

The campaign will start next Saturday with an open house and an Autumn Spirit Festival. Persons from the area are invited to a day of festivities which will include folk dancing, an exhibition and selling of crafts and pottery, a barbecue and bonfire.

The drive will carry on through November, 1976. "The school is looking for gifts of all kinds," said Biscoe. "We hope with our campaign to attract new students and to interest alumni, parents, small businesses, big corporations and foundations. We feel this country and this valley have room for a non-profit-alternative form of education."

"We must ask ourselves," added Sharp. "Whether we feel that private education has a place in our society now. It would be a crime to let private institutions, all of them, die and fade away."



Paul Carsen, an eighth grader, practices tennis on one of the school's three courts.

Direct Furniture's spacious showroom displays latest in furniture fashion and home decor

Third anniversary for Direct Furniture

To celebrate its third anniversary in Pomona, Direct Furniture at 1937 S. Garey Ave. is having a sale with furniture marked down to 1971 prices. Upholstered furniture, manufactured at the location, was priced substantially below average when the firm opened in 1971. A sale featuring Direct's 1971 prices, therefore, offers very low prices to the customer, according to owner Lee Vaughan.

At Direct Furniture the customer and the manufacturer meet without a middleman.

Under the direction of Vaughan, all upholstered pieces, sofas, loveseats and chairs offered for sale in the front of the store are manufactured in the back. An experienced dozen upholsterers and seamstresses create the approximately 2,000 furniture sets per year.

This has a number of important ramifications for the buying public. Of great importance in this time of rising prices, Vaughan points out he is able to regularly pass substantial savings on to his customers who include not only the general public, but several hundred other furniture dealers and warehouses.

But equally important, the customer is able to be certain of the construction and workmanship of the upholstered furniture purchased. Questions about construction and materials receive authoritative answers because as manufacturer, Vaughan knows what goes into the product. All workmanship and construction carry a guarantee and the store offers free delivery and set up. Merchandise may be financed in a variety of ways.

Vaughan is not a newcomer to furniture manufacturing. Before coming to Pomona in 1971 he owned and operated Leader Furniture Manufacturing of El Monte for a number of years.

Although Direct Furniture does not make furniture to order, the customer may pick any of more than 20 styles Vaughan manufactures to be upholstered in any of the assortment of materials. Vaughan carries an assortment of materials including velvet fabrics from Belgium and Yugoslavia and synthetic fabrics manufactured domestically.

Items not made on the premises—tables, lamps, stereos and paintings—are also on sale at Direct Furniture.

The store is open from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. Mondays and Fridays and from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Tuesdays through Thursdays. Saturdays Direct Furniture is open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. and from noon to 5 p.m. on Sundays.

Salesman Paul Martinez (above) describes quality of Direct Furniture manufacturing to a customer on roomy showroom floor of factory-to-customer outlet. Assembly worker Randy Mindiole (right) seams a cushion after stuffing it with soft but firm upholstery padding. Miniole also doubles as delivery driver who assembles furniture in customers' homes.

Garey students take trips, visit UCLA

By STEVEN TRENHOLME
Garey Reporter

Garey High classes and clubs went on three separate off campus field trips this month.

Saturday, Nov. 2, Lawrence Fischback's Southern California and 20th Century history classes flew by jet to San Juan Capistrano Mission. Many of the students had never been airborne before, so one of the trip's primary purposes was to give them a chance to see California's geography from an aerial perspective.

Pictures taken on the trip will be featured in Saga, the Viking yearbook, which will have the theme of travel this year.

The MGM honors English class made the first of four visits to the Ahmenson Theater in Los Angeles, Thursday, Nov. 17. Noel Coward's comedy Private Lives, about a twice married, honeymooning couple meeting their former spouses at the same hotel, was viewed. Academy Award winning actress Maggie Smith starred. The MGM group also made a short stop at the Farmer's Market before the play began.

On Nov. 8, the California Scholarship Federation participated in "Honors Day" at UCLA. Eligibility in CSF requires members to maintain at least 3.72 averages in approved academic subjects. They attended opening ceremonies at Pauley Pavilion, after which they took a partial tour of the campus. In the afternoon they watched the UCLA-Oregon football game.

Heller is Webb reporter

Mike P. Heller, 16, is the Teen Scope correspondent at Webb School in Claremont.

Heller, a junior, is president of the Press Club at Webb. He is co-president of Students Organized for Service (SOS), serves as the school banker and works in the library.

MIKE P. HELLER

Heller was born in New York. He moved to California four years ago. This is his third year at Webb.

His father is Paul Heller of West Los Angeles. He has a step-sister, Jami, 14.

After being graduated from Webb, Heller plans to attend college and prepare for a career in social psychology research.

Parents visit campus

Parents of Ontario High School students will don comfortable shoes Nov. 26, when they attend the annual Back to School night on the school's 40-acre campus.

The evening will begin at 6:45 in the cafeteria with performances by the Ontario High School band and pep squad. From 7:20-8:45 parents will follow their child's schedule, attending his classes for 10-minute sessions to learn class contents and goals. Some departments will be presenting on-going demonstrations conducted by the students. So the parents will not become "lost," CIF members and other selected students will be acting as guides.

Individual problems should not be discussed during the class sessions, for the departments will be available in the cafeteria at 8:45 for personal conferences. Refreshments will be served during this time.

San Dimas presents play

Drama students at San Dimas High School opened their production of "The Effect of Gamma Rays on Man-in-the-Moon Marigolds" Friday night.

Repeat performances will be given tonight at 8 in the Black Mask Theater on campus, and again Nov. 22-23, also at 8 p.m.

The play tells the story of Beatrice Hunsdorfer and her two daughters, Ruth and Matilda, and Matilda's experiment with marigolds.

Leading roles are played by Becky Axthelm, Liz Lewis, Kelly Esquivel, Alana Whitacre, Laura Lilby and Diana Ducote.

Sonya Urquhart is director.

New staff on Plaid

By JEANNETTE VANCE
Upland Reporter

The Upland High School publication, the Plaid, has become one of the top-rated school papers in the nation. This year's staff will attempt to match previous levels despite numerous personnel shifts.

The biggest change occurred when former Plaid adviser Steve Eichelberger accepted a junior college job in Oregon. He has been replaced by Norm Rush, former English instructor and coach at Garey High School in Pomona.

This year Lori Templeman replaces Dorothy Reinhold as editor; John Fleck is news editor; and Jeannette Vance heads the sports staff. The feature team consists of Dave Canup, Craig Pierce and Monica Blazeck. Jenneen Schiro heads the art staff.

Book traces rise of Haldeman, Ehrlichman

POMONA NEWSSTAND

PLAIN SPEAKING

By JOAN HANAUER

THE PALACE GUARD, by Dan Rather and Gary Paul Gates. Harper & Row, $8.95.

Behind the guarded doors at the Nixon White House sat two of the most powerful men in the nation's history — Bob Haldeman and John Ehrlichman.

In this detailed, workmanlike book, the authors tell how they got their power -- how Haldeman, the advertising man with a knack for organization, and Ehrlichman, the zoning lawyer, rose to run the machinery of government almost unchecked.

By controlling access to the president, a man who valued his privacy, Haldeman made his position as presidential assistant the dominant force in the White House.

In the first months of the Nixon presidency, Haldeman shocked cabinet members when he refused to let them see Nixon. Soon, cabinet members were finding it difficult to get through Haldeman's aides to talk to Haldeman.

Ehrlichman's appointment as chief of domestic affairs rounded out their influence.

By the end of the first year of the Nixon presidency, the duo, with Henry Kissinger on the foreign side, had ascended to the pinnacle of power even though few people in the country knew their names. Kissinger, incidentally, was not part of their little group — on the contrary.

The analysis by the authors (one was the CBS chief White House correspondent) of the ways in which the Haldeman-Ehrlichman axis exercised its power is engrossing and informative.

Take this observation: "Sometimes Haldeman and Ehrlichman acted out of a subtle mixture of knowing what the president's intentions, gripes, concerns and fears were and the assumption he wouldn't object. Other times they acted in the belief that they knew him well enough to know what he wanted even before he did."

The authors also suggest that the pair occasionally appeared to operate on their own authority.

In any event, for appointive, not elected, government officials, unaccountable to anyone but the president, their influence in shaping government policies and controlling its operations were awesome.

The book has a satisfying collection of trenchant anecdotes. And some of its judgments are ingriguing, although perhaps superficial.

They make much, for instance, of the administration's sharp turn to the right after Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's fall from grace after Chappaquiddick.

But for a picture of the inner workings of the Nixon White House, The Palace Guard is a valuable, revealing study.

Book records ambivalence of superstar

JIMI by Curtis Knight, Praeger, $7.95.

What does it take to become a superstar in the world of rock music? Does it happen overnight and is it worth it?

Curtis Knight has written an illustrated book which tells it like it was for Jimi Hendrix.

The author recalls his own experiences with Hendrix as well as those of his father, girl friends and other well-known rock musicians.

He says that to become a superstar you must take the good times with the bad. Hendrix at one point was down so low he had to hock his guitar to pay for a cheap motel room.

And after making it big in England, was it worth the struggle? Jimi thought he had what seemed to be an inner peace, but maybe for him death was just a way of getting closer to that inner peace.

At any rate the author points out that the world of music lost a great talent.
